FOREWORD

This manual has been developed by the Zombie Preparation Association under the authority of ZPI Administrative Services (ZADS).

This manual applies to the Zombie Hunting Network (ZHN) Specific Training and Response Program. This manual is effective immediately (its use is mandatory by all ZHN components).

This manual provides guidance in conducting a safe and informed method of survival from a zombie infestation. It is not intended as a comprehensive document to encompass all aspects of survival, but seeks to define a process by which an individual can integrate the information to create a solid plan of action preceding a zombie outbreak.

Volume 1 will cover the following aspects of needed knowledge for survival of a zombie outbreak: What a zombie is and their capabilities, how to assess your situation, information on situational awareness, suggested gear to prepare, weapon statistics, basic home defensive preparations, armor statistics, weapon statistics, transportation statistics, organizing a survivor group, general tactics used in today's military, and city, state, and national response efforts during an outbreak.

ASSOCIATION HISTORY

Zombie Preparedness Initiative

Zombie Preparedness Initiative (ZPI) was created in late 2004 by several college students after watching Shaun of the Dead. After they watched the entertainment theater of how the characters survived by mostly sheer luck, the students felt that they wouldn't let survival falter on such a teetering aspect in life. Thus, these people banded together and created ZPI to discuss the many aspects of zombie survival. Shortly thereafter, the group started their own website where the group's population expanded dramatically. To current day, the database can be found at the following link: <http://www.zombieinitiative.org>.

Zombie Hunting Network

Zombie Hunting Network (ZHN) was created on November 28th of 2006 by two military members. These military members realized the survivability of America during any type of massive disaster is slim due to lack of preparation and general knowledge. Since the creation date, ZHN has been recruiting vigorously in an attempt to have units throughout the world that will assist their economies in preparing and training activities to better the world's survival abilities and knowledge. If you feel you are dedicated enough to make a difference, please contact ZHN at: <http://www.zombiecell.net>

Zombie Preparation Association

The Zombie Preparation Association was created on the 26th of July, 2007 to mark the partnership of both ZPI and ZHN. These two organizations came to a realization that they are both holding the same goals and hopes for the world. Thus, instead of struggling as lone organizations, they decided to combine efforts to achieve the same objectives.
